A gem from the Nintendo64 heyday. This is a development (flash) cartridge used by VIS entertainment to develop the PowerPuffGirls Chemical X-traction which eventually was released by BAM! Entertainment. The game is playable and it seems complete, but with that said, I haven't been searching for differences either.

Comes as seen, cart only, with scruff marks and even a label on the backside that claims it's Tom & Jerry, but it's clearly not. Mind you these carts were expensive back in the day so they were reused over and over.

Shipping worldwide is $25
